Epics with Stories

The screenshot displays a Jira workspace for the 'SE_Lab2' space. The interface includes a sidebar with navigation options like 'For you', 'Recent', 'Starred', 'Apps', 'Plans', 'Spaces', 'Filters', 'Dashboards', 'Teams', 'Goals', 'Projects', and 'Customise sidebar'. The main area shows a list of stories under the 'SE_Lab2' space, organized into three epics. Each story has a key, title, assignee (Unassigned), priority, and story point estimate.

Key	Title	Assignee	Priority	Story point estimate

Burndown Charts

Reflection Questions

- Did your estimations reflect the actual effort?
 Yes, the story point estimations were reasonably close to the actual effort required. Smaller stories required fewer points, while more complex stories such as booking a consultation and managing doctor availability were given higher points.
- Was your backlog well-prioritized?
 Yes. The backlog was prioritized based on the importance and dependency of the features. Core features such as doctor discovery, viewing available slots, and booking consultations were given higher priority.
- How did your simulated sprint align with your plan?
 The simulated sprint generally followed the planned work. The selected stories were moved from To Do to In Progress to Done to represent their completion during the sprint.
- What insights did the burndown chart give about your team's capacity?
 The burndown chart showed how the remaining story points decreased as work was completed. It helped us understand the team's progress and whether the planned workload could be completed within the sprint duration.
